I am pleased to announce that Mrs. Christine Martin, an educator with more than 10 years of experience, was named the 2010 Joseph L. McCourt Middle School Teacher of the Year.

Mrs. Martin was described by a parent as a teacher that remains positive and helps all of her students learn. A student described her as "a master at what she does who is in no way average". Armand Pires said, "Mrs. Martin remains focused on student success at all times. She develops excellent relationships with students that promote high achievement".

Mrs. Martin is a grade 7/8 math and science teacher and was nominated by colleagues, students, and parents for this honor. In addition to being an extraordinary teacher, Mrs. Martin is an active member of McCourt's PBIS committee and assists students in operating the school store.
